

FLOOD WATERS THREATEN OHIO WHILE TORNADOES CLAIM 31 LIVES IN SOUTH

MISSISSIPPI BEARS BRUNT OF DISASTER

Series of Wind Storms Leave
Death and Destruction
In Wake.

A series of tornadoes, cutting across the southern part of the country Monday, claimed a known toll of 31 dead, scores injured, and an untold property damage.

The greatest damage was wreaked at Duncan, Miss., where early today 21 bodies had been recovered from the debris that covered the stricken waterless and lightless city, patrolled by militiamen.

The twister struck two other towns in Mississippi. At Alligator, six miles away, two persons were killed and five injured. At Marks, Miss., in the same area two other lives were claimed.

Two persons were killed at Van, Ark., two at Grand Prairie, Tex., and two at Cooper, Tex., by twisters earlier in the day.

Indications that the death toll would mount steadily were adduced from Mississippi reports, which said many of the 50 or more injured at Duncan may die and that all the debris had not yet been searched for other bodies.

Reports indicated that the storm had struck several rural communities in Mississippi, from which no definite news has been received because of crippled telegraph communication.

21 ARE DEAD
DUNCAN, Miss., Feb. 26.—Twenty-one persons dead, 50 or more injured, and an unestimated property damage that will run into thousands, was the known toll today of a cyclone which late yesterday virtually wiped this little town off the map.

By the flare of torchlights, volunteer workmen searched the debris of the devastated sections during the night for the bodies of the dead, and with the first rays of dawn, 21 sheet-covered victims lay in the temporary morgue.

ALLIGATOR, Miss., Feb. 26.—Two unidentified persons were killed and six others injured by a tornado which swept over this vicinity late yesterday.

MARKS, Miss., Feb. 26.—Two unidentified negroes were killed in a tornado which swept over this vicinity late yesterday.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 26.—Red Cross aid for the stricken towns in the vicinity of Duncan, Miss., was being rushed from here today.

M. E. BROTHERHOOD TO HAVE FISH FRY

On Thursday evening, Feb. 28, the Methodist Brotherhood will serve a fish supper at 6 o'clock. Each member of the organization is invited to come and bring a friend if he wishes. A program of music and talks on the life of Washington will follow the supper. This is a get-together meeting of the Brotherhood and men of the church, and a large crowd is expected.

In order that the committee may know just how many to prepare for, reservations must be made with George M. Fitzpatrick not later than Tuesday night.

PRESIDENT OF BANK

Gilbert Monroe, of Portsmouth, is president of the new Ohio Valley bank which was opened Tuesday Feb. 12, in that city. This bank is spoken of in banking circles as the most beautiful in the tri-state district. EX-TEACHER DIES MONDAY

Mrs. Mabel Lamp Succumbs
At Home of Her Parents
In Circleville.

Mrs. Mabel J. Lamp, 24, died Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of her parents, 370 B. Mount-st. Circleville.

She was the daughter of Harry and Theresa Hill and was born in Pickaway-co, Ohio, on Aug. 29, 1904.

On July 7, 1927, she was united in marriage to Baxter Lamp, of Newark, O., who survives.

Besides her parents she is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Herman, of Cleveland; Herschel, of Columbus; Bishop, of Mt. Vernon; Orville, of Portsmouth; Pauline, Waneta, Kenneth and Raymond at home.

She was graduated from the Sunbury High school in the class of 1923.

Previous to her marriage she was a teacher in the public schools in Newark, and was also a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The funeral service will be at her late residence, 370 B. Mount-st., Wednesday at 10 o'clock. Rev. McElfresh officiating and interment will take place in the Sunbury cemetery by C. E. Hill, funeral director.

M. D. KREIDER DIES AT HOME OF SON

M. D. Kreider, 65, well known resident of Tarlton, died at the home of his son Fred Kreider of near Leisville at 9:20 p. m. Monday after several months' illness from a complication of diseases. Funeral arrangements, in charge of H. E. Defenbaugh, will be announced later.

Surviving are two sons, Fred Kreider, of Leisville, and Carl Kreider, Tarlton, and three daughters, Mrs. John Dresbach, Chillicothe; Miss Beatrice Kreider, Columbus, and Miss Adelaide at home.

War and Robbery Furnished Items Of News in 1862

An interesting issue of an old Circleville newspaper, "The Union" has been found by Miss Mattie Dresbach in an old book in the home which was occupied by Reuben Dresbach, who was probably editor at that time. The paper, which is yellow with age, is of about the thickness of tissue paper. One of its news items said: "All of our Pickaway boys except three companies are now in Halleck's Army near Corinth. Their friends at home will not fail to remember them nor cease to pray that they may be gloriously victorious when the great battle, now impending, shall take place."

Another paragraph was headed "MADAME ANNA BISHOP'S CONCERT." This world renowned artist will favor Circleville with a visit. She will give one Grand Concert at Peck's hall on Saturday evening, next.

This newspaper, printed during the Civil war, also carries this story: "Mr. Aquila Rice of Tarlton was wounded in the arm at the battle of Shiloh. Henry Dixon was also wounded and four others slightly injured, whose names were not ascertained. They were members of Capt. Morrison's Co. The gallant captain himself was not wounded as was reported."

Another story speaks of an attack by a Chicago gangster's father. "On Monday morning last, Vancosy Cookson, living near this place, was way laid and shot through the hand by some highwayman who demanded his horse and his money. He was taken to the Royalton Turpentine mill, on the Circleville road, where he died in his object by the presence of mind of Mr. C. and the sudden bound of his horse."

URGES STUDY OF ROAD PLAN

Farm Bureau Letter Briefs
Proposed Ohio Highway Legislation.

Close study of road legislation now pending before the Ohio Assembly is urged of every farmer in a letter from President L. B. Palmer of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation now being circulated among the directors of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau. The letter, which briefs the legislation and explains the present road situation, is similar to those sent to farm leaders in all sections of Ohio.

The two measures of greatest interest, according to Palmer are those which would remove all property assessments for the state highway system and that proposing another cent of gasoline tax.

Farmers have long favored the removal of the abutting property tax, since the state system is used by all motorists and should be paid for by them. Removal of this assessment would cut some $2,000,000 of revenue for road purposes, on the basis of last year's operations, and the additional cent of gasoline tax proposal included up this amount.

Seven of eight people in the rural districts are not served by the state system and live on some 70,000 miles of county and township roads. The additional cent of gasoline tax proposal includes the distribution of $1,500,000 or nearly $1500 a township for this secondary road system, thus serving both farmers and municipalities not now served directly by the state system.

Delegates at the recent annual meeting of the state farm bureau oppose any reduction in the gasoline or tag tax, and urged the removal of the abutting property tax. Legislative committees of county farm bureaus are now being asked by officials of the state organization to study these legislative proposals and make their wishes known in Columbus.

OBERT KUHN DIES

Funeral arrangements for Obert Kuhn who dropped dead at his home near Tarlton Monday, will be announced later. H. E. Defenbaugh is in charge.

AGED WOMAN HIT BY AUTO

Miss Julia Delaplaine Suffers
Cut On Head and Bruised
Hip.

Miss Julia Delaplaine, 82, of 221 N. Scioto-st. was knocked down and run over by an automobile, suffering a cut head and a bruised hip Monday evening. Neither the automobile nor the driver was identified.

Merton Westenhaver, of Walnut-st. was the driver of the car that hit her as he made a left hand turn from Court-st. into Pickaway-st. He was said to have been driving slowly, but the rain and dim light made visibility difficult. The radiator of the car hit Miss Delaplaine, and when the automobile was brought to a stop, Clarence Easter pulled her out from beneath the back wheels. Mr. Westenhaver took her home in his car, where Dr. Howard Jones was called to attend her. Because of Miss Delaplaine's age, her injuries may prove more serious than at first considered.

EASTERN STAR MEMBER DIES

Mrs. Angeline Ater, 80, Succumbs
At Home of Her Son.

Mrs. Angeline Ater, 80, widow of Milton M. Ater, occurred Monday night February 25, at 8 o'clock at the home of her son Heber Ater, near Williamsport. Mrs. Ater, who was a widely known resident of Williamsport, was a member of the Eastern Star. She died on her birthday from the effects of a stroke of paralysis suffered last Thursday.

She was born February 25, 1849 in Deer creek-twp and was the daughter of Joseph and Susan Boots. On December 28, 1875 she was united in marriage to Milton Ater, and to this union four children were born, three having preceded her in death. A brother, Stephen Boots, lives in Williamsport, and a sister, Mrs. Samuel Pickle, resides near Williamsport.

Asks Southern Club's Closing

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26.—Stanley Schwartz, attorney for Peggy Martin, who claims she lost $7,000 gambling at the Southern club, on Bulen road, Pickaway-co, today petitioned Attorney General Bettman to close the club. He asked that the charter be revoked.

ASSAULT CHARGED BY LOCAL WOMAN

John M. Rose, colored, of Lynchburg, Va., was brought to the Pickaway-co jail Monday by Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell on a charge of assault filed against him by Lillian May Lowery, colored, of Circleville. The attack occurred on Sept. 1, 1927, it is alleged.

Rose was arrested in Chillicothe by police authorities who wanted him on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. They charge that he had an automatic pistol in his possession when he was arrested.

WOMAN, STRICKEN AT FIRE, SUCCUMBS

Wanda Kieffer, 32, of 1210 N. Scioto-st., died at her home at 11 a. m. Monday after a paralytic stroke during a fire at Bloomington near her home Sunday was a fatal fire. She was a member of the Christian church and was a devoted mother.

She was one of the most serious in the history of the city. She owned two buildings and did damage of $12,000. Mrs. Kieffer was watching the blaze when she was stricken.

MRS. SARAH LEIST RITES THURSDAY

Sarah Young Leist, 79, widow of Edson Leist, died at her home near Stoutsville at 11 a. m. Monday. She was a native of Pennsylvania and was the daughter of Samuel and Cathleen Grodzki. Surviving are two sons, Jacob Leist, Stoutsville, and E. C. Leist, Circleville, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Martin, Circleville, and Mrs. Lita Cathleen Thomas, Columbus.

Funeral services for Mrs. Leist will be held Thursday at 1:30 p. m. at the Morris U. B. church with interment in Hill-Ludwig cemetery. H. E. Defenbaugh, funeral director is in charge of arrangements.

MRS. WINSHIP DIES MONDAY

Funeral Services Will Be Wednesday At Daughter's Home.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Catharine Winship, 90, widow of the late E. E. Winship who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Foreman in S. Scioto-st., Monday, will be held Wednesday at 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Foreman, Rev. Emil S. Toensmeier officiating. Burial will be private and will be in Forest cemetery.

Mrs. Winship was born in Chambersburg, Penn., July 15, 1839, of Dutch-Scotch ancestry, her parents being John and Margaret Wiley Bricker. Her girlhood was spent in Independence, Missouri and she was twice married. Her first husband was David Franklin Wells by whom she had one son, Leon F. Wells who died in 1922 leaving one daughter, Mrs. Howard Benford Moore of Circleville.

The deceased was married later to E. E. Winship of an old Ohio family but at that time living in Missouri. Three children who were born of her second marriage are William John T. Winship, Bartlett, Mo.; Mrs. Mary M. Winship, of near Columbus, and John E. Winship, Hart, Mich. Mrs. Winship came to Circleville from Missouri in 1864 and she had since resided here. She was a member of the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Winship who had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Foreman for the past several years since her health failed was a woman devoted to her family and friends in a marked degree. She loved young people and was especially happy in their social activities. Even in her advancing years she remembered many of the younger generation as her dearest friends.

RIVERS LEAVE BANKS AS RAIN SWEEPS STATE

Bridge Washed Out On Scioto
Trail—Other Sections
Hard Hit.

With many people unable to occupy their homes—highways flooded—traffic impeded and impossible, in some places—and with flood warnings issued for Coshocton, Circleville, Chillicothe, Delaware and LaRue, central Ohio Tuesday faced serious flood danger and damage, with a possible recurrence of the 1913 floods in some sections.

From the zero mark Monday, the Scioto river at Circleville rose to the 10-foot mark Tuesday and it was predicted it would strike the 14-foot point, or three feet above flood stage, by Tuesday night. The temporary bridge on the Scioto Trail over Buler Run was washed out early Tuesday and traffic is detouring by way of Ashville. Monday the temperature climbed to 48 degrees and held that level all night until 7 a. m. Tuesday when it started to climb again. At noon Tuesday the temperature was 55 degrees.

SPRINGFIELD HARD HIT
Springfield experienced the greatest damage as a result of the torrential rains last night and early this morning. Residents of lowlands there were compelled to flee from their homes. Others were overthrown with their cars in water. Factories were put out of commission, due to flooded basements. Breaking of a water main caused a temporary cessation of the water works system, and light and power services were temporarily suspended.

Terror-stricken residents were taken from their partially inundated homes in a suburb of Hamilton. Washouts caused the suspension of traction services in scattered sections of central Ohio.

FAMILIES MAROONED
The downpour in Columbus amounted to 2.8 inches. Many a would-be motorist had to resort to the street car this morning, finding the water in the street where he had left his car last night was so deep the machine couldn't be moved under its own power. The lowlands along the Olentangy river in Columbus were inundated, and the grounds around the stadium at Ohio State university were under water. Several families were marooned near Toledo when the Sibley creek poured from its banks. Ohio river conditions from First Liverpool to Cincinnati caused no alarm, but observers were keeping a "weather-eye" open. Colder weather, which would freeze the feeding streams, is prayed for.

FORMER TARLTON MAN DROPS DEAD
John Spangler, 62, a former resident of Tarlton, died from heart disease at 3 p. m. Monday at Cleveland and is buried there. He had been taken to a nearby undertaking establishment where he was identified several hours later by his widow, Mrs. Grace Spangler.

Mr. and Mrs. Spangler went to Columbus two years ago from Tarlton. A son, James Spangler and a daughter, Mrs. Fred Reid also survive. Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p. m. Thursday in the M. E. church at Tarlton.

TWO INJURED IN FACTORY MISHAPS

Two Circleville men are recovering from injuries suffered in accidents at local industrial plants. Sherman Binkley, E. Mount-st., severely bruised his left hip when he fell at the Goettler Broom factory while carrying a bale of broom corn. His injury was attended by Dr. D. V. Courtwright. Stanley Ankrim, York-st., suffered a dislocated shoulder Sunday when he was caught in a belt at the Mid-West Box Co. plant. His injury was dressed by Dr. M. G. Jackson.

Wednesday At Daughter's Home.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Catharine Winship, 90, widow of the late E. E. Winship who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Foresman in S. Scioto-st., Monday, will be held Wednesday at 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Foresman, Rev. Emil S. Toensmeier officiating. Burial will be private and will be in Forest cemetery.

Mrs. Winship was born in Chambersburg, Penn., July 15, 1839, of Dutch-Scotch ancestry, her parents being John and Margaret Wiley Bricker. Her girlhood was spent in Independence, Missouri and she was twice married. Her first husband was David Franklin Wells, by whom she had one son, Leon H. Wells, who died in 1892 leaving one daughter, Mrs. Howard Benford Moore of Circleville.

The deceased was married later to E. E. Winship of an old Ohio family but at that time living in Missouri. Three children who were born of her second marriage are living: John T. Winship, Battle Creek, Mich.; Mrs. Nancy W. Foresman, Circleville and Edwin E. Winship, Hart, Mich. Mrs. Winship came to Circleville from Missouri in 1884 and she had since resided here. She was a member of the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Winship who had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Foresman, for the past several years since her health failed, was a woman devoted to her family and friends in a marked degree. She loved young people and was especially happy in their social activities. Even in her advancing years she remembered many of the younger generation as her dearest friends.

ENID W. TATMAN IS PNEUMONIA VICTIM

Pneumonia caused the death Sunday of Enid Waneta Tatman, 15, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. William Tatman at their home in Laurelville. Her parents and two brothers survive.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. at the home in Laurelville with interment in Sedalia, O. H. E. Defenbaugh is in charge of the funeral arrangements.

RIVERS LEAVE BANKS AS RAIN SWEEPS STATE

Bridge Washed Out On Scioto
Trail—Other Sections
Hard Hit.

With many people unable to occupy their homes—highways flooded—traffic impeded—and impossible, in some places—and with flood warnings issued for Coshocton, Circleville, Chillicothe, Delaware and LaRue, central Ohio Tuesday faced serious flood danger and damage, with a possible recurrence of the 1913 floods in some sections.

From the zero mark Monday, the Scioto river at Circleville rose to the 10-foot mark Tuesday and it was predicted it would strike the 14-foot point, or three feet above flood stage, by Tuesday night. The temporary bridge on the Scioto Trail over Bulen Run was washed out early Tuesday and traffic is detouring by way of Ashville. Monday the temperature climbed to 48 degrees and held that level all night until 7 a. m. Tuesday when it started to climb again. At noon Tuesday the temperature was 55 degrees.

SPRINGFIELD HARD HIT

Springfield experienced the greatest damage as a result of the torrential rains last night and early this morning. Residents of lowlands there were compelled to flee from their homes. City streets were overflowed with three feet of water. Factories were put out of commission, due to flooded basements. Breaking of a water main caused a temporary cessation of the water works system, and light and power services were temporarily suspended.

Terror-stricken residents were taken from their partially inundated homes in a suburb of Hamilton.

Washouts caused the suspension of traction services in scattered sections of central Ohio.

FAMILIES MAROONED

The downpour in Columbus amounted to 2.6 inches. Many a would-be motorist had to resort to the street car this morning, finding the water in the street where he had left his car last night was so deep the machine couldn't be moved under its own power.

The lowlands along the Olentangy river in Columbus were inundated, and the grounds around the stadium at Ohio State university were under water.

Several families were marooned near Toledo when the Sibley creek poured from its banks.

Ohio river conditions from East Liverpool to Cincinnati caused no alarm, but observers were keeping a "weather-eye" open. Colder weather, which would freeze the feeding streams, is prayed for.

FORMER TARLTON MAN DROPS DEAD

Jerry Spangler, 62, a former resident of Tarlton, fell dead from heart disease at 4 p. m. Monday at Cleveland and Eleventh-aves, Columbus. His body was taken to a nearby undertaking establishment where he was identified several hours later by his widow, Mrs. Grace Spangler.

Mr. and Mrs. Spangler went to Columbus two years ago from Tarlton. A son, James Spangler, and a daughter, Mrs. Fred Reid, also survive. Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p. m. Thursday in the M. E. church at Tarlton.

TWO INJURED IN FACTORY MISHAPS

Two Circleville men are recovering from injuries suffered in accidents at local industrial plants. Sherman Binkley, E. Mound-st., severely bruised his left hip when he fell at the Goeller Broom factory while carrying a bale of broom corn. His injury was attended by Dr. D. V. Courtright.

Stanley Ankrim, York-st., suffered a dislocated shoulder Sunday when he was caught in a belt at the Mid-West Box Co. plant. His injury was dressed by Dr. H. G. Jackson.

One Cent A Day Brings $100 A Month

Over 100,000 Persons Have Taken Advantage of Liberal Insurance Offer. Policy Sent Free For Inspection.

Kansas City, Mo.—Accident insurance at a cost of one cent a day is being featured in a policy issued by the National Protective Insurance Association.

The benefits are $100 a month for 12 months—$1,000 to $1,500 at death. The premium is only $3.65 a year or exactly one cent a day. Over 100,000 paid policies of this type are already in force. Men, women and children ten years of age or over are eligible. No medical examination is required. This may be carried in addition to insurance in any other company.

SEND NO MONEY

To secure 10 days' free inspection of policy, send no money. Mail to the National Protective Insurance Association, 1473 Scarritt Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., the following information: Name, age, address, beneficiary's name and relationship. After reading the policy you may either return it without obligation or send $3.65 to put policy in force for a whole year—365 days. (Copyright, 1928)—Adv.

B. & O EMPLOYE NOW FINDS JOY AND PLEASURE IN WORK

PROMINENT LOCAL RAIL ROADER SAYS HOYT'S MADE HIM FEEL ALTOGETHER DIFFERENT.

"My work is now a JOY and PLEASURE to me since I found Hoyt's Compound," said Mr. Chas. Coey, well known Chillicothe railroad and a LIFE LONG resident of this city, when talking at Wilder's Drug Store, Circle-

ville about the wonderful results he obtained through the use of this great medicine. This well known man continues:

"I am 41 years of age and have lived here in Chillicothe all my life," said Mr. Coey. "Have been employed by the B. & O. Railway for the past 23 years and am widely known through this territory. I have been a constant sufferer with stomach trouble for more than TWENTY YEARS and was gradually growing worse. I felt bad all the time and my stomach grew very sore. I was a great victim of constipation and indigestion and had to be taking PURGATIVES all the time. I felt tired and sluggish and my work grew to be a great dread to me because of my health. I tried various kinds of medicines but didn't get any results, in fact I had given up ALL HOPE of finding my way to health again. I began to read about the wonderful things Hoyt's Compound was doing for others here in this vicinity and many of my friends told me how they had been benefited by it. I decided to give Hoyt's a trial and went and purchased one bottle and began taking it. I had but little faith in any medicine but seemingly immediately after starting on the first bottle of Hoyt's Compound I began to improve. It found the vital spot that had given me trouble for years. I am now on my SECOND bottle and can truthfully say I feel like a DIFFERENT MAN ALTOGETHER. My stomach is no longer troubling me and my bowels are regulated perfectly. My entire system has been wonderfully improved so that I now feel fine and my work is indeed a PLEASURE and JOY to me since I began taking this WONDERFUL MEDICINE. Hoyt's Compound is being introduced daily at Wilder's DRUG Store, Circleville, O.—Adv.

of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Valentine and family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Young and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Miller and son, Clydus and Kenneth Young, Miss Amanda Dunkle, Mr. Dan Dunkle and Mr. Doe Fuller were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Boyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rose and children were the Sunday guests of Mrs. John Chester and family.

A birthday surprise party was given Richard Smith in honor of his 21st birthday Monday evening, February 18, at his home. Many games were played and afterwards refreshments were served, consisting of salad, sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, ice cream, cake and coffee. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Grice, Elroy Leist, Harry Yokum, Carl Frazier, Howard Leist, Karl Brown, Orville Jones, Ralph Betz, Violet Chester, Cathrine Jones, Evelyn Yokum, Lillian Welch, Sylvia Rattary, Mildred Jones, Dorothy and Garnet Davis, Mary and Agnes Frazier, Erma Wagner, Daisy Murray, Viona Smith, Paul and Delvin Smith and Merton Compton.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Frazier spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dunkle.

Mr. and Mrs. George Trimmer and family have moved to Circleville, on S. Pickaway-st.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kraft and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. James Leist and children were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Turney Kraft.

Miss Mary, Agnes and Emmett Frazier spent Sunday with Miss Selena Adams.

A number of people "belled" Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Young Saturday evening, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Young.

Miss Gwendolyn Rector, coach of the girls basket ball team, entertained as her guests Friday evening at Handley's Tea Room, Misses Dorothy and Garnet Davis, Agnes Frazier, Evelyn Yokum, Sylvia Rattary and Lillian Welch.

Miss Mary Frazier and Mr. Ralph Betz motored to Chillicothe Sunday evening.

Although Washington-twp boys and girls teams were among those eliminated from the tournament, we are proud of them and their playing.

The boys, Friday night probably played one of the most unusual games in basket ball history. Four different times the tie was played off with Jackson scoring 6 points the last time, making the score 16-22. The score was close throughout the game.

Saturday morning the girls followed suite, tying with the Jackson girls. Our opponents however were fortunate in having their field goal counted in the first overtime period, making the score 10-12.

Both the Washington girls and boys however offered Jackson more opposition than they expected. By Jackson we were considered "easy marks."

Washington will lose three of their good players in the graduating class this spring—Dorothy Davis, Agnes Frazier and Orville Jones. Dorothy and Agnes have played faithfully during their high school career and are considered all-star athletes.

The cast of characters for the sermon play, "That's One on Bull," has been chosen.

Mr. H. N. Grice asked the following questions in a Biology examination—

"What is the difference between heredity and environment?" Paul Elliott answered, "One is a belief and the other is the real thing."

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Diltz and family have moved from Alice Halterman's farm to W. H. Pontious, near east Ringgold.

An unusual chapel program was rendered by Miss Edith Spangler's room, 1st and 2nd grades, Monday morning.

Little Hazel Matz, second grade, acted as chairman and Helen Mast, second grade, gave the scriptural reading and lead prayer.

Several songs were sung by both grades, mostly pertaining to Washington's birthday.

Gale List, first grade, Hazel Mast and Betty Leist gave recitations.

Makes Hair Behave But Doesn't SHOW!

There's a way to keep your hair just so, without any of that objectionable, "plastered down" look. Just use a few drops of Danderine—comb it through hair, or wet a hairbrush, dampen towel—you'll be amazed at the way your hair then behaves, and its beautiful lustre!

Any permanent wave or water wave lasts much longer and looks much nicer when Danderine is used instead of water to "set" the wave.

Of course, you know what Danderine does to dandruff! Dissolves every bit of it. Gets scalp in the pink of condition. Invigorates hair and hair roots. Why use anything else?

Ask Your Druggist

Get a bottle of Danderine and start its benefits today. Every druggist in America has it for you! For the finest dressing you could find, and the best aid to hair health yet discovered, just try—

SENSENBRENNER'S

FORCED TO VACATE

SALE

A Word of Thanks and Apology

We would consider it a breach of courtesy if we did not at this time express our thanks to the many hundreds of our customers who have visited our store during the past few days in response to our initial advertising.

We apologize to those who were unable to gain entrance to our store last Saturday, our opening sale day, and to the many who were unable to be waited upon.

With an enlarged sales force we will endeavor to give prompt and careful attention to all of our customers during the balance of our sale.

L. SENSENBRENNER.

Stocks Are Still Big

Sensenbrenner's Forced to Vacate Sale is by far the biggest merchandising event Circleville has seen in many days. In spite of the heavy selling the first few days, the dent made in this huge stock is hardly noticeable at all. During the excitement the vast crowds overlooked many of the biggest bargains.

Suffering Banished From Circleville Homes By Spinago

Many Circleville residents have found that stomach trouble and disorders arising from impure blood simply can't resist the action of Spinago. Many are the former sufferers who call at the Mykrantz Pharmacy, 107 North Court street, Circleville headquarters for Spinago, glorious happy in the knowledge that this practical tonic, compounded on a base of concentrated spinach has brought back to them, that dearest of all possessions, health. When Spinago enters the home, radiant happiness and health are in store for the whole family, and sickness, suffering and misery simply vanish before its wonderfully powerful action.

WILLIAM MORRIS

Right here in Circleville many seeming miracles are reported every day by those who have discovered the merits of this master medicine themselves. For instance just the other day, Mr. William Morris who resides at 118 E. Water street, Circleville, called at the Mykrantz Pharmacy and made this remarkable statement.

"For about ten years I had been suffering from constipation and stomach trouble. During this whole time I tried one medicine after another from drug stores and doctors—The misery was unbearable. I had no appetite whatever. My bodily resistance was weakened and I was in a terribly rundown condition. I was about discouraged after having tried so many different medicines over such a long period of time. Then I heard of Spinago and what wonderful results other people had derived from it. One bottle of Spinago did wonders for me. The second bottle did what all other medicines which I tried for ten years failed to do. It cured me—For the first time in ten years I now enjoy good health. My stomach trouble is gone. I have a good healthy appetite and enjoy my meals. My bowels are in good shape and my general condition is fine. I have Spinago to thank for this change in me. It is a truly wonderful medicine I have now started my son on Spinago and am sure that he will get the same results I have. If other sufferers from stomach trouble and indigestion will take my advice and try Spinago, I am sure that they will be thankful for my recommendation."

It is only reasonable to believe that Spinago can bring the same joy to others who are suffering from Mr. Morris' ailments because this practical tonic is built around that most valuable of foods, spinach which is combined with roots, herbs and barks of well known medicinal value to produce a well balanced and efficient compound. Spinago is available to Circleville residents at the Mykrantz Pharmacy, 107 N. Court St., where daily joyous patients call with their wonderful news.

"I am strong for Luckies."

John Gilbert
John Gilbert
Celebrated Screen Star

"Motion picture actors are under a great strain—they need the comforting qualities of a good cigarette. That is why most of us smoke Lucky Strike. The marvelous toasted flavor of Luckies brings complete enjoyment and relaxation but does not hurt the throat or wind. I am strong for Luckies—they are the 'stars' of the cigarette picture. I would rather have a Lucky after a meal than rich pastries or desserts."

JOHN GILBERT

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skillfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

Four States Seek Her

Little Nancy Ellen Hammond Keys is being sought out by the police after being kidnaped when a man and woman threw her big sister out of the car in which they were returning to their home at Hillsboro, Ohio, after a sleighing party. Merchants of Hillsboro have raised a fund of $1,000 as reward for the capture of the kidnapers.

Suffering Banished From Circleville Homes By Spinago

Many Circleville residents have found that stomach trouble and disorders arising from impure blood simply can't resist the action of Spinago. Many are the former sufferers who call at the Mykrantz Pharmacy, 107 North Court street, Circleville headquarters for Spinago, glorious happy in the knowledge that this practical tonic, compounded on a base of concentrated spinach has brought back to them, that dearest of all possessions, health. When Spinago enters the home, radiant happiness and health are in store for the whole family, and sickness, suffering and misery simply vanish before its wonderfully powerful action.

WILLIAM MORRIS

Right here in Circleville many seeming miracles are reported every day by those who have discovered the merits of this master medicine themselves. For instance just the other day, Mr. William Morris who resides at 118 E. Water street, Circleville, called at the Mykrantz Pharmacy and made this remarkable statement.

"For about ten years I had been suffering from constipation and stomach trouble. During this whole time I tried one medicine after another from drug stores and doctors. The misery was unbearable. I had no appetite whatever. My bodily resistance was weakened and I was in a terribly rundown condition. I was about discouraged after having tried so many different medicines over such a long period of time. Then I heard of Spinago and what wonderful results other people had derived from it. One bottle of Spinago did wonders for me. The second bottle did what all other medicines which I tried for ten years failed to do. It cured me. For the first time in ten years I now enjoy good health. My stomach trouble is gone. I have a good healthy appetite and enjoy my meals. My bowels are in good shape and my general condition is fine. I have Spinago to thank for this change in me. It is a truly wonderful medicine. I have now started my son on Spinago and am sure that he will get the same results I have. If other sufferers from stomach trouble and indigestion will take my advice and try Spinago, I am sure that they will be thankful for my recommendation."

It is only reasonable to believe that Spinago can bring the same joy to others who are suffering from Mr. Morris' ailments because this practical tonic is built around that most valuable of foods, spinach which is combined with roots, herbs and barks of well known medicinal value to produce a well balanced and efficient compound.

Spinago is available to Circleville residents at the Mykrantz Pharmacy 107 N. Court St., where daily joyous patients call with their wonderful news.

FIVE POINTS

Rev. William Hampshire began his revival meetings at Rob-town Sunday evening, February 24.

Quite a large number in this vicinity are still on the sick list. Mr. Carl Turflinger of Mt. Sterling visited his farm near Five Points Thursday.

Miss Hattie Hudnell of near Five Points was a business visitor in Williamsport Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Fausnaugh and family moved from the Wiggins farm near Grange Hall to Mr. Harry Dicks farm near Five Points.

James Long and two sons visited William Downs and family Wednesday evening.

Hershel Long and Chas. Hudnell were Mt. Sterling visitors Thursday.

A crowd attended Mrs. Rader's sale near Five Points Thursday. Everything sold well.

A large crowd attended Mr. Carry Reeves sale near Hebron church and everything sold well.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Long and family visited Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. George Widinger and family.

A Jacksonville negro was seen driving a flapper round and round a tree out in the woods recently. Asked what he was doing, he replied, "The makin' do' as many let him turn as I please, without gettin' called down by a cop."

"I am strong for Luckies."

Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.

John Gilbert
John Gilbert
Celebrated Screen Star

"Motion picture actors are under a great strain—they need the comforting qualities of a good cigarette. That is why most of us smoke Lucky Strike. The marvelous toasted flavor of Luckies brings complete enjoyment and relaxation but does not hurt the throat or wind. I am strong for Luckies—they are the 'stars' of the cigarette picture. I would rather have a Lucky after a meal than rich pastries or desserts."

JOHN GILBERT

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skillfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

B. & O EMPLOYE
NOW FINDS JOY AND PLEASURE IN WORK

PROMINENT LOCAL RAIL
ROADER SAYS HOYT'S
MADE HIM FEEL ALTO-GETHER DIFFERENT.

"My work is now a JOY and PLEASURE to me since I found Hoyt's Compound," said Mr. Chas. Coey, well known Chillicothe railroad and a LIFE LONG resident of this city, when talking at Wilder's Drug Store, Circle-

ville about the wonderful results he obtained through the use of this great medicine. "This well known man continues:

"I am 41 years of age and have lived here in Chillicothe all my life," said Mr. Coey. "Have been employed by the B. & O. Railway for the past 23 years and am widely known through this territory. I have been a constant sufferer with stomach trouble for more than TWENTY YEARS and was gradually growing worse. I felt bad all the time and my stomach grew very sore. I was a great victim of constipation and indigestion and had to be taking PURGATIVES all the time. I felt tired and sluggish and my work grew to be a great dread to me because of my health. I tried various kinds of medicines but didn't get any results, in fact I had given up ALL HOPE of finding my way to health again. I began to read about the wonderful things Hoyt's Compound was doing for others here in this vicinity and many of my friends told me how they had been benefitted by it. I decided to give Hoyt's a trial and went and purchased one bottle and began taking it. I had but little faith in any medicine but seemingly immediately after starting on the first bottle of Hoyt's Compound I began to improve. I found the vital spot that had given me trouble for years. I am now on my SECOND bottle and can truthfully say I feel like a DIFFERENT MAN ALTOGETHER. My stomach is no longer troubling me and my bowels are regulated perfectly. My entire system has been wonderfully improved so that I now feel fine and my work is indeed a PLEASURE and JOY to me since I began taking this WONDERFUL MEDICINE.

Hoyt's Compound is being introduced daily at Wilder's DRUG Store, Circleville, O.—Adv.

of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Valentine and family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Young and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Miller and son, Clydus and Kenneth Young, Miss Amanda Dunkle, Mr. Dan Dunkle and Mr. Doe Fuller were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Boyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rose and children were the Sunday guests of Mrs. John Chester and family.

A birthday surprise party was given Richard Smith in honor of his 21st birthday Monday evening, February 18, at his home. Many games were played and afterwards refreshments were served, consisting of salad, sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, ice cream, cake and coffee. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Grice, Elroy Leist, Harry Yokum, Carl Frazier, Howard Leist, Karl Brown, Orville Jones, Ralph Betz, Violet Chester, Cathrine Jones, Evelyn Yokum, Lillian Welch, Sylvia Rattary, Mildred Jones, Dorothy and Garnet Davis, Mary and Agnes Frazier, Erma Wagner, Daisy Murray, Viona Smith, Paul and Delvin Smith and Merton Compton.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Frazier spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dunkle.

Mr. and Mrs. George Trimmer and family have moved to Circleville, on S. Pickaway-st.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kraft and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. James Leist and children were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Turney Kraft.

Miss Mary, Agnes and Emmett Frazier spent Sunday with Miss Selena Adams.

A number of people "belled" Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Young Saturday evening, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Young.

Miss Gwendolin Rector, coach of the girls basket ball team, entertained at her guests Friday evening at Handley's Tea Room, Misses Dorothy and Garnet Davis, Agnes Frazier, Evelyn Yokum, Sylvia Rattary and Lillian Welch.

Miss Mary Frazier and Mr. Ralph Betz motored to Chillicothe Sunday evening.

Although Washington-twp boys and girls teams were among those eliminated from the tournament, we are proud of them and their playing.

The boys, Friday night probably played one of the most unusual games in basket ball history. Four different times the tie was played off with Jackson scoring 6 points the last time, making the score 16-22. The score was close throughout the game.

Saturday morning the girls followed suite, tying with the Jackson girls. Our opponents however were fortunate in having their field goal counted in the first overtime period, making the score 10-12.

Both the Washington girls and boys however offered Jackson more opposition than they expected. By Jackson we were considered "easy marks."

Washington will lose three of their good players in the graduating class this spring—Dorothy Davis, Agnes Frazier and Orville Jones. Dorothy and Agnes have played faithfully during their high school career and are considered all-star athletes.

The cast of characters for the senior play, "That's One on Bill," has been chosen.

Mr. H. N. Grice asked the following questions in a Biology examination—

"What is the difference between heredity and environment?"

Paul Elliott answered, "One is a belief and the other is the real thing."

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Diltz and family have moved from Alice Halterman's farm to W. H. Pontious, near east Ringgold.

An unusual chapel program was rendered by Miss Edith Spangler's room, 1st and 2nd grades, Monday morning.

Little Hazel Matz, second grade, acted as chairman and Helen Mast, second grade, gave the scriptural reading and lead prayer.

Several songs were sung by both grades, mostly pertaining to Washington's birthday.

Gale List, first grade, Hazel Mast and Betty Leist gave recitations.

Makes Hair Behave
But Doesn't SHOW!

There's a way to keep your hair just-so, without any of that objectionable "plastered-down" look. Just use a few drops of Danderine—comb it through hair, or use a Danderine-dampened towel—you'll be amazed at the way your hair then behaves, and its beautiful lustre!

Any permanent wave or water wave lasts much longer and looks much nicer when Danderine is used instead of water to "set" the wave.

Of course, you know what Danderine does to dandruff! Dissolves every bit of it. Puts scalp in the pink of condition. Invigorates hair and hair-roots. Why use anything else?

Ask Your Druggist

Get a bottle of Danderine and start its benefits today. Every druggist in America has it, for only 35c. For the finest dressing you could find, and the best aid to hair health yet discovered, just try—

A Word of Thanks and Apology

We would consider it a breach of courtesy if we did not at this time express our thanks to the many hundreds of our customers who have visited our store during the past few days in response to our initial advertising.

We apologize to those who were unable to gain entrance to our store last Saturday, our opening sale day, and to the many who were unable to be waited upon.

With an enlarged sales force we will endeavor to give prompt and careful attention to all of our customers during the balance of our sale.

Tale of Village Firemen

By RING LARDNER

To the Editor:

I won't give you any hint as to the identity of the town where the scene of this little article is laid, only to say that it is a suburb of the largest city east of Green River, Wyoming, and can be reached by motor from the midst of the large city referred to in 35 minutes.

Well, like practically every town of a population of 12 and upwards this town has got a fire dept., and like a whole lot of them, this fire dept. is what is known as a volunteer fire dept. which means that the members ain't supposed to get nothing but glory. Well, they's a man living in this town who is in the theatrical business in one way and another and one day the chief of the fire dept. asked him would he join the fire dept. and he says yes on acct. of being public spirited. So he bought himself a rubber coat and a helmet and a pair of rubber boots and staid home several nights with the windows open so as he would sure and hear what is known in the town as the siren.

Well, the siren did not blow and did not blow and finely our hero, who we will call Mr. Kloot, read a card saying they would be a meeting of the dept. at the fire house the following night and would he please try and attend. The dept. meets once every 2 weeks to discuss prohibition. Well, Mr. Kloot attended the meeting and pretty near all the members were there and he knewed the most of them. The chief is a building contractor and the asst. chief is the town's most prominent plumber. Others who he recognized were all well known citizens in various walks of life. Amongst them was a dentist, the supt. of the gas company, a plasterer, a painter, a mason, a paper hanger, an insurance man and etc.

Well, they sat around the whole evening and discussed prohibition and the siren did not blow, but the meeting could not of been adjourned more than 5 or 10 minutes when it did blow and the firemen rushed back to the fire house and clumb aboard the 3 vehicles with which the dept. is equipped.

Mr. Kloot happened to board the same vehicle as the chief and the both of them were right close to the driver, "Whose place is it?" shouted the chief as the vehicle tore recklessly down—towards—"L. M. Taylor's," the driver shouted back. L. M. Taylor being the town's millionaire, worth more than $150,000. "Well, what's your hurry?" shouted the chief and the driver slowed down a little, while Mr. Kloot did not know what to think.

Well, they got to the fire and it did not look like a very big fire for such a big house and in fact Mr. Taylor's house had just about put it out with the aid of a few seltzer bottles, but the fire dept. seemed to think the danger was nowhere near over and while some of them connected a couple of sections of hose with the nearest hydrants, others entered the house through the front and back doors and up ladders through the 2d story windows and began swinging their axes at the walls, closets and etc. One stream of water was turned on the entire upstairs and another on the ground floor and in a few minutes the family and the servants and the firemen moving hither and thither was instinctively shouting shoo away.

Mr. Kloot strayed into the bathroom and found the asst. chief cutting holes in the different pipes. "Safety first," said the asst. chief. "Many a home has burned to the ground on acct. of hidden flames in the plumbing." Mr. Kloot walked into a master bedroom on the 2d floor and seen 2 firemen with axes excavating the floor. "Safety first," said one of them. "If we should all half to go down stairs in a hurry, they'd be a panic on the stairs so it is best to have a place big enough to drop through."

Mr. Kloot encountered Mr. Taylor, the owner of the house. A couple of firemen was talking to him. "Was you covered by insurance?" asked one of them. "Not fully," says Mr. Taylor. "Well," says the fireman, "this should ought to learn you a lesson."

"This fire," said the other fireman to Mr. Taylor, "was caused by defective wiring. If you would use gas for light a thing like this could not happen."

Mr. Kloot next met Mrs. Taylor and her two kids in company with still another fireman. The lady and the kids was open mouthed with horror, and the fireman was looking into their mouths. "Madam," he says, "you have got a advanced case of pyorrhea and your kids has got cavities that makes the grand canyon look like a dimple. It is a good thing I happened to drop in."

In the early hours of the morning the firemen decided they was nothing more to be done and left what might now be laughingly referred to as the house. Mr. Kloot was the last to leave and Mr. Taylor accompanied him to what had formerly been the front door.

"I feel like I had been giving a old-fashioned at home," said Mr. Taylor and pulled out of his pocket a small pack of cards, the business cards of the town's volunteer fire dept.

Next morning Mr. Kloot called up the chief and submitted his resignation.

"What's the idea?" asked the chief.

"Nothing special," replied Mr. Kloot, "only that I'm in the theatrical business."

BIBLE THOUGHT

GOD OF THE UNIVERSE—Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God afar off? 24 Can anyone hide himself in secret places that I shall not see him? saith the Lord. Do not I fill the heaven and earth? saith the Lord.—Jeremiah 23:23,24.

PRAYER—"Fill Thou my life, O Lord my God, in every part with praise."

JAZZ IN JERUSALEM

Nothing so illustrates the spread of American influence and American ways all over the world as the way in which our popular music is played in distant lands.

Rudolph Friml, composer of such musical hits as "Rose Marie" and "The Vagabond King," recently made a round-the-world cruise. While visiting Palestine, he found a band in Jerusalem playing the famous "Song of the Vagabonds" from the latter show. Introducing himself to the leader, he took the baton and himself conducted the band in an encore rendition of the tune.

Nothing could be more striking than that. A rousing Broadway song in the holy city of Palestine! Our music at any rate is going all over the world.

WOMEN AS JURORS

Women are serving as jurors in many states, and in many states they are not permitted to serve in that function. In Wyoming, which was the pioneer state to grant woman suffrage, the senate has just voted down a proposition allowing women to perform this service. It was argued that the absence of the women on jury duty created a hardship on the men of the family.

It will create inconvenience in many homes, and father will growl some, to come home and find no dinner, because his wife has been out at the court house all day. Some people maintain that many cases are tried in court which women should not hear, but that kind of consideration has gone by. Women have to take their share of dealing with the soiled side of life, regardless of the prudish squeamishness of former days.

Some people might argue that women are more emotional, and would be moved by their tender sympathies in many cases to grant too lenient treatment to offenders.

Yet the woman's point of view is needed. The point of view of one sex alone is one sided. They would have a clearer view of the conditions surrounding the lives of women and children.

As far as the inconvenience goes, it is no worse for the husband to miss some of his usual household comforts, than for him to leave his work or business to do jury duty. To keep up our institutions, we all have to make sacrifices. Many men dislike to call on women for jury work, feeling that they have enough cares now. But as the tendency is for women to constantly take a greater part in public and government affairs, it seems likely that more of the states will call on them for this service.

Fine Thought

A venerable old gentleman had been fined $100 for sitting in a cinema theater and Corlandt Theaker philosophized over the episode at the Knickerbocker club. "A woman," Mr. Blecker conceded, "is as old as she looks. A man isn't old till he stops looking."

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

IRENE ROBELINE, in love with handsome Guinn Holden, the young Texas town minister, is bitterly disappointed when he marries Lilith, a beautiful blonde who had boasted that she would force him to propose to her. A year later Lilith dies during child birth. Irene then marries Holden, believing he could be made to forget the past and make her happy with his love. Before this event she had rejected Will Lundy, the town doctor, in love with her. With Will she organized a meeting to uphold the pastor when the deacons of the church tried to expel a member for drunkenness. After marriage Irene devoted her whole life to Guinn's comfort and success. With Lilith, the baby, she found a more difficult problem, as her father had thoroughly spoiled her. In her he constantly saw the picture of his dead wife—the same golden hair, blue eyes and soft pink skin. Irene knew that Mattie Anson, the town gossip, was aware of Holden's spiritual loyalty to the dead Lilith. When Irene's child was born she believed Guinn's love would be fully hers. Instead he entered the room with Lilith in his arms "to see Lilith's little sister." After eighteen years of married life Irene finds the same unsterile barrier—Holden loves and spoils the beautiful Lilith, now graduated from college, while Tina, Ross and Lundy, Irene's own children by him, occupy lesser stations in his heart and mind. "Lilith is older," was his answer to Irene's remonstrations when Lilith was favored, and Lilith knew how to get her selfish wishes gratified by her father. Towards Patricia, the youngest child, Lilith had shown little interest, never exerting herself to care for her. Tina, on the contrary, was a lovable, dark-eyed child, always "second to Lilith" in everything who looked after Patricia like a little mother. Now, with the girls grown up, Lilith wanted to study voice culture in New York and Paris. Tina, who has a talent for drawing, wants also to have an opportunity to study in New York.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIV.

IRENE AND GUINN were sitting on the porch that afternoon, with Julius Lawton and Will Lundy and old Art Rakestraw, who had dropped in to see the girls. The girls and the young men from Dallas were on the lawn, and Patricia was playing with her puppy beside them. "Don't tread on our toes, Pat," said Lilith, as she looked with disfavor at the child who had come a little too near her. "You're just as happy with your dog at the other end of the lawn?" Pat looked hurt. "No, not as happy. I couldn't hear what you all were saying if I was away off there."

"Is it necessary that you should hear?" "Yes, I think so. Only time I can listen to young men talk interesting is when I stick around you. Young men don't never come to see me yet."

"They'll come in droves one of these days," said Roger Devereaux. "You've got the sort of eyes that draw them. I can see." He pretended to look carefully into his brown eyes lifted eagerly to his. "Come around on this side by me, Patsy, with your pup," said Tina.

"Tina is still the peacemaker," commented Will, as the group on the lawn moved a little farther away out of their hearing. Julius Lawton, the bank president, laughingly said to Irene, "I understand you are a professional matchmaker."

Guinn said, "Yes, she encourages matrimony, finally whoops it up, because the preacher's wife gets the wedding fees. Gives parties to get folks engaged."

Irene wagged her head dolefully. "Wedding fees aren't all they're advertised to be. Not long ago a couple came, strange young folks, and I was gleefully spending that fee in my mind. But that dapper young bidegroom borrowed five dollars from Guinn instead of paying him anything!"

"That young man will get on in this world," said Lawton. "And another one paid him two bits and said he'd give more later on the installment plan. But he never did."

"Maybe he decided his wife wasn't worth any more," suggested Guinn.

"Sometimes the marrieds don't play fair with the preacher's wife at all," complained Irene. "Some times they give the preacher presents instead of fees, things his wife couldn't use. One man gave me a yellow dog that had a pair of riding boots too small for him—and he hasn't a horse to ride, any how. I think I'll send out doggers to me and I'm very particular about what I take. Choosey, as Sheba says."

She laughed, then grew sober. "There's one disappointment I'll never get over. One of Guinn's college classmates wrote he was to perform the ceremony. He accepted and I got a new dress and was thrilled over the prospect, for the classmate was rich. I thought he might give maybe fifty or even a hundred dollars. Nobody ever had given Guinn that much for a fee, but I'm a reckless hoper, and I let my fancy loose."

"How much did it set him back?" asked Lawton. "She shot a look of reproach at her husband. "The day before the wedding one of the charity members of the church took sick and swore she was going to die, and hollered for the pastor to come and hold her hand. He did, and even mine. I offered to stay with her, even if I did have a new dress for the wedding. But Guinn, with his incorrigible conscience, stayed at home and held her hand. He wired his classmate to get another preacher. He did, and paid the other preacher a thousand dollars. A thousand dollars!" Her voice rose lugubriously. "And the old woman didn't have the decency to die after all!"

"Irene will hold that against me till she's a hundred years old," said Guinn.

"Why not? Just think what the thousand would be worth, at compound interest, when I'm a hundred!"

"Too bad," empathized the banker. She gave her low rich laugh. "My mother used to pray that no one of her children should ever have great riches, for they brought too much temptation. Well, I wish she hadn't prayed so hard, or else that the Lord could have picked out some other of her petitions to answer so thoroughly."

"Ain't Lilith beautiful?" said old Art Rakestraw, as she moved lightly across the grass in the sunlight. His faded, tired eyes lighted as they gazed at her.

"Yes, isn't she?" cried Guinn with the eagerness of a boy. "Yes, she was lovely, Irene's heart told her. . . . with a still, calm beauty like a piece of sculptured perfection glowing with life. Her shining gold hair, her skin translucent as rosy pearl, her luminous eyes gave the beholder an impression that the girl glowed with some inner radiance of flesh itself. . . . of flesh, not spirit."

"She is prettier even than her mother was," said Will Lundy. Art Rakestraw turned upon him with heat. "Nobody is prettier than Lilith was. Nobody could be."

Into Guinn's eyes came a remote look of dreams, of remembrance, and his gaze followed the girl on the lawn as if seeing another girl almost twenty years dead reincarnated in her.

Irene looked at Lilith, too, and compared her with her mother. She was less of an artist, which then her mother had been, without the deliberate and studied naivete. She didn't employ the other Lilith's obvious methods of capture where men were concerned. She had something of her father's poise and dignity, of quiet confidence, and her elusive indifference was more enchanting than pursuit would have been.

Lilith seemed faintly bored, as if life had not yet presented to her anything worth her effort to achieve or possess, slightly ironic, as if doubtful of the values or yet with a suggestion of secret, subtle mirth in her eyes, keenly alive to all that went on. She did not care to chatter constantly as most girls did, but would rather listen with dreamy remoteness while others talked, and utter only an occasional remark, as if she would not exert herself to talk unless she were interested. And she would be silent gracefully, without giving offense.

As she stood on the lawn in her sunlight, she seemed pure sunlight herself, her golden hair bright with its thousand radiances, her eyes shining as with an inner mirth whose secret no one but herself knew, her skin flushed and glowing, her lips curved in a smile. No wonder the young men loved her, when her beauty had such a magical quality, and her voice, with its slight drawl, its delectable cadences, was as alluring to the ear as her face was to the eye.

"Isn't Lilith beautiful?" said old Art Rakestraw, as she moved lightly across the grass in the sunlight. His faded, lined eyes lighted as they gazed at her.

"Yes, isn't she?" cried Guinn with the eagerness of a boy.

Yes, she was lovely, Irene's heart told her. . . . with a still, calm beauty like a piece of sculptured perfection glowing with life. Her shining gold hair, her skin translucent as rose pearl, her luminous eyes gave the beholder an impression that the girl glowed with some inner radiance of flesh itself. . . . of flesh, not spirit.

"She is prettier even than her mother was," said Will Lundy.

Art Rakestraw turned upon her with heart. "Nobody is prettier than Lilith was. Nobody could be."

Into Guinn's eyes came a remote look of dreams, of remembrance, and his gaze followed the girl on the lawn as if seeing another girl almost twenty years dead reincarnated in her.

Irene looked at Lilith, too, and compared her with her mother. She was less of an artless witch than her mother had been, without the deliberate and studied coyness. She didn't employ the other Lilith's obvious methods of capture where men were concerned. She had something of her father's poise and dignity of quiet confidence, and her elusive indifference was more enchanting than pursuit would have been.

Lilith seemed faintly bored, as if life had not yet presented to her anything worth her effort to achieve or win, and slightly ironic as if doubtful of the values of which others laid so much stress—yet with a suggestion of secret subtle mirth in her eyes. Keenly alive to all that went on. She did not care to chatter constantly at most girls did, but would often listen with dramatic responsiveness while others talked, and utter only an occasional remark as if she would not exert herself to talk unless she were interested. Art could be silent gracefully, without giving offense.

As she stood on the lawn in her sun dress, she seemed perfectly beautiful. Her golden hair shined with the thousand suns, her eyes shone as with an inner mirth whose secret no one but herself knew. Her skin flushed and glowed with the warm glow of a smile. No one but the young men loved her, and her beauty had such a magnetic quality, and her voice, when she sang, was so deliciously melodious, as was alluring to the ear as a melody was to the eye.

Many Types of Animals

There are approximately 700,000 species of animal life which have been described up to the present time.

Fine Quality of Raw Furs Brings Big Prices This Season

Trappers and hunters on the North American continent are assured the highest prices ever paid for many kinds of wild-animal pelts which are so universally in demand this season. Not only are high prices being paid for the skins of American fur-bearers, but almost all furs are of finer quality than in several years past, according to the head of the largest house in the world dealing exclusively in American raw furs.

"Millions of people in this country and abroad depend upon American furs for comfort, adornment and satisfaction of personal sartorial desires," Don L. Ono, president of A. B. Shubert, Inc., Chicago, told a group of furriers recently. "The United States is one of the greatest fur producing countries in the world. It produces more furs than all of Canada. Although it is not generally known, thousands of men spend their entire time trapping and buying furs in this country and Canada, so great is the demand for furs." Mr. Ono continued. "Thousands of quantities of such pelts as fox, mink, beaver, otter, raccoon, opossum, skunk, coyotes, and wolves and even rabbits, are used annually, and we are paying the topmost prices for them. Many trappers and hunters of these animals earn very comfortable incomes during the fur season, which begins in November and ends in March. For five months of intensive campaigning for raw furs, these men, and a few women trappers and hunters, can live on the receipts of their catches for the remainder of the year.

"Rabbits, to be found practically everywhere, are among the most important of all furs, not individually, but in bulk. The bunny fur is the basis of the finer felts manufactured and used in the United States and abroad. More than 50 kinds of fur are imitated from rabbit pelts, and rabbit skins are especially prized by ladies' felt hat manufacturers. We can use millions of rabbit pelts this year, and some days we receive as many as 25,000 of them in a single shipment."

Mr. Ono elaborated upon the early history of trapping furs, when the Indian trading posts did not differ a whole lot from the present-day fur receiving depots, excepting in appearance and volume of business transacted. Trapping, which once was the only industry of the great and unexplored west, still is one of this country's most important industries. A. B. Shubert, Inc., supplies American manufacturers as well as the great foreign markets, such as Paris, London, Leipzig and Milan, with hundreds of thousands of American raw furs, particularly fine mink, muskrat, otter and foxes.

Workers Carve Road in Arkansas Marble

Western Grove, Ark. — North Arkansas in Newton and Boone counties is so lavishly with its resources that workmen on the highway shoot through ledges of fine marble and toss it aside like flint or shale. There is an illustration between this place and Valley Springs on Federal Highway No. 65 which is now under construction. For about 200 yards the grade runs across the top of a bed of light gray marble. This was shot out to a depth of several feet and several hundred tons of this material is piled up along the dump. Any one of the larger pieces would cost $150 worked into a monument.

Dogs and Goats Steal Rides on Airplanes

Washington.—Air corps records here show that not only have live animals flown long distances in planes, but that they have even made parachute jumps. "Bing," dog mascot of the air service mechanics school at Kelly field, San Antonio, once made a parachute jump from a height of a thousand feet. He had a special harness fitted on him. A sergeant pulled the rip cord just as the dog dropped into space. The parachute opened beautifully, and "Bing" floated gracefully to earth, alighting in the arms of the lieutenant who had raised him from a pup. He set up a joyous and excited bark, as though to tell the world about the feat he had just accomplished.

The twenty-second photographic section of the air corps adds to the aviators' best-time stories with an account of three kittens which made several extended journeys before they were found in the fuselage of the plane. The mother cat had evidently considered it a good safe home for the kittens. Records also show that dogs, frogs, goats, mice and snakes have made aerial journeys in the cockpits of planes, sometimes to the great annoyance of pilots who have discovered the live freight after the plane has taken off. At France field, Panama, a mother "possum" and her brood of little ones was discovered in the fuselage of a plane. It is no uncommon sight to see a crowman going about his work with a small "possum" clinging grimly to his shoulder.

Air Mail Is Proved Safe for Valuables

Washington.—Post Office department records show the air mail is comparatively as safe a medium for shipping valuable papers as other means of transportation. "The loss of 1,097 sacks of mail containing the Vestris alone constituted a greater loss than the air mail has experienced during the ten years of its existence. W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general, says in reviewing the records.

"Fire in a railroad car just outside New York recently destroyed more mail than has been lost during the entire operations of the air mail."

Records show that for the ten years of air mail's operation, 1,624,865 pounds of mail were carried with a loss of only 1,235 pounds. The percentage of air mail loss in transit is .00081.

The Post Office department requires mail compartments of all planes to be lined with sheet metal to serve as a protection from such slight fires as might originate from defective wiring or similar local causes.

Girl Stowaways Are a Problem to Ship Lines

Cape May, N. J.—The hazardous and adventuresome experience of stowing away aboard a ship is now being sought by the flapper as a new thrill, according to E. W. Arculus, veteran steward and former instructor of stewards for the United States shipping board. Arculus, who recently visited old colonies in the seafaring colony of the south Jersey coast, declared the romance of the sea is as keenly sought by young women as by members of the opposite sex—who have always considered the sea as a field of their own.

The steward said the number of young women who get a "kick" out of "stowing" aboard a transatlantic vessel and stealing a ride to Europe is getting to be a serious factor with the large companies. Arculus revealed drastic measures are being taken to watch the gangplanks at embarkation for fair stewards. One company, he said, is considering a rule to have friends and relatives to say farewell from the dock to prevent "free passengers" from boarding.

PELLAGRA IS CURABLE DR. COPELAND HOLDS

Properly Balanced Diet Will Overcome Effects of Skin Plague, Health Authority Declares, Praising Work of Dr. Goldberger.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

IN Washington a few weeks ago, one of the great figures in medicine died. Dr. Joseph Goldberger died much to benefit the human race. He studied yellow fever, typhus, measles and dengue fever. But his monumental work was in connection with pellagra.

As a result of this great doctor's work, cause and cure of pellagra were found. But more than this, his research shed new light on the science of human diet. The knowledge of many things in medicine was widened by this man's efforts. What Dr. Goldberger did was to remove pellagra from the long list of mysterious things. He has left us, but his efforts for humanity will survive forever.

The name given the disease we have mentioned is from two words—"pellis," meaning the skin, and "agra," meaning "catching." These were united into the old name, "pellagra." It is due to disturbed nutrition. The most conspicuous symptom is the puffy swelling of the skin. It begins on the back of the hands, looking not unlike severe sunburn. Later, the feet, neck and forehead may be involved. There may be blisters over the inflamed surfaces. The skin grows darker in color and much thickened for a time. Then it begins to shrivel up and peel.

Other early symptoms are disturbances of digestion. Ulcers of the mouth, sickness at the stomach and vomiting are observed. Painful diarrhoea is another sign. The third center of attack is the nervous system. At first there may be headache and dizziness. Weakness, inability to think clearly, terrible depression of spirits and finally a form of insanity, this is the course of the disease.

You can see that it is a distressing and a pretty hopeless ailment. That is why Dr. Goldberger's work is so important.

It took this good man fourteen years of hard and dangerous work to solve this problem. It was important to find a cure because large sections of the South were afflicted. It had flourished there since the time of the war between the States. For a long time it was thought that the disease came from eating spoiled corn. Goldberger's research disproved this and determined that the symptoms are the result of a lack in the diet, the absence of what he called "P. P."—pellagra preventive. In short, the ailment is what we call a "deficiency disease." Pellagra follows a diet of corn meal, polished rice, white flour, molasses, sugar, fat pork, turnip greens, sweet potatoes and coffee. The diet you see, is largely sugar and starch and lacking in protein. It is the conclusion of students of this disease, including Dr. Goldberger, that certain foods must be given.

DR. COPELAND

We are thankful for Dr. Goldberger's gift to the race. We mourn his untimely death. His fifty-three years were crowded with good works. He earned his crown.

"LENT AND MY HOME"

Memory Verse for Tuesday
"Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged" (Colossians 3:21).
(Read: Colossians 3:14 to 21.)

MEDITATION: Patience is the first virtue of a parent. How often we have seen children alienated from the love and piety of the home by the austere and exacting severity of parents! These misguided parents love their children but they expect too much and they demand it too soon. They forget how once they also thought as a child and spoke as a child.

WEIGH WHAT YOU DESIRE

If you over-weigh, the cause may not be in over-eating or under-exercise. It may lie in a fault in nutrition which modern research has discovered. And which science now corrects. The method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And many of the people who, with slender figures, new vivacity and health—will urge you to adopt this way. The use of Marmola does not require abnormal exercise or diet. In every box you will find the formula, also the reasons for results. You will know just why your weight comes down and why every effort is helpful. Learn the facts, and do it now. Do so by asking your drug-gist today for a $1 box of Marmola.

Tell It to the Marines
Over the entrances to certain compartments of the American airlines is a sign which reads—"If you don't listen, you'll get killed." But this warning did not originate with the airlines, says the American Magazine, which explains: "It is really the life code of all wild things in nature. With them, to obey is to live, and to disobey is to die. Almost daily, wild creatures are called upon to make life-and-death choices, and they usually choose with celerity and dispatch. Reason and natural laws go hand in hand, and to violate the law of nature is always to defy reason."

WILSON STORE TO BE CLOSED

Preparations Will Be Made
For Final Sale of Stock
On Saturday.

After 50 years of business in the location on E. Main-st. J. R. Wilson's Home Equipment store will be closed Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. He has leased his store room, and will give possession as soon as possible to the Dollar Dan Store. His entire stock and all fixtures will be sold at once at a closing out sale which will begin Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Until that time, the store will be closed in preparation for the sale.

There will be no celebration to mark the 50th anniversary of this business, which Mr. Wilson established in 1879. In that half century the store has handled only high class merchandise.

On Saturday morning a carnival of bargains will be revealed to the people of Circleville. Nothing will be left undone to move stock quickly. The lines specialized on will be cooking utensils, stoves and general lines of home equipment. One of the best qualities and cleanest stocks ever offered at sacrifice prices will be sold at the sale beginning Saturday morning.

Mr. Wilson's future plan will be to retain the rear of the store and continue with only plumbing, pipe fitting, stove repairs, pumps and used stoves. Entrance to his shop will be from the alley in the rear.

O. E. S. CELEBRATION

The tenth anniversary of Kingston Chapter No. 411, O. E. S., was celebrated at the regular meeting of the chapter held last Friday evening, Feb. 15. An appetizing six o'clock dinner was served to about 65 members and guests at small tables where a color scheme of red and white was carried out with candles and flowers and a large white cake adorned with ten candles occupied a conspicuous place. The brick ice cream with a red "10" and delicious white cake concluded this part of the evening's enjoyment. The initiatory ceremony followed the regular opening of the chapter at which time Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Pamuliner were initiated into the order. The following officers exemplified the work in a very pleasing manner: Worthy Matron, Mrs. Florence Mowery; Worthy Patron, Rev. Floyd S. Webb; Associate Matron, Mrs. Wyland Gardner; Secretary, Mrs. Marietta Rittenour; Treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Orr; conductress, Mrs. Bernice Borders; Associate Con-

ductress, Mrs. Mary Metcalf; Chaplain, Mrs. Ruby Wood; Marshal, Mrs. Myrtle Creachbaum; Organist, Mrs. Oda Anderson; Ada, Mrs. Hazel Hohenstein; Ruth, Mrs. Lillian Dreisbach; Esther, Miss Mary Ford; Martha, Miss Margaret Thomas; Electa, Mrs. Flora Shoemaker; Warden, Mrs. Florence Jones; Sentinel, Nelson Leasure. At the close of initiation a splendid musical program was put on by Mrs. Maude Hatfield and Mrs. Oda Anderson, who as the Happy Harmony Girls entertained all with their broadcasting from station OES operating on a frequency of 411 kilocycles. The following committee was in charge of the dinner. Policyholders Pay $80,000,000 ... in ... Special Taxes You Share in This Bill

THE users of insurance in the United States are indirectly but actually burdened with a vast sum—approximately $80,000,000.00 annually—by taxes additional to the regular taxes paid by insurance in common with other lines of industry. This money is a burden upon the premium of the policyholder, even though it is collected from the insurer.

The original purpose of these additional taxes upon insurance was to maintain state supervision of the business, but such supervision uses but four cents of each dollar, and the balance—about $77,000,000.00—is an additional burden upon you, Mr. Policyholder, that goes into the general state treasuries.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has adopted the following resolution:

"... Special State Taxes now levied on Policy holders through insurance companies should not be considered as a source of general revenue, but should be reduced to the total in each state which will adequately support such state's departmental supervision"

WILSON STORE TO BE CLOSED

Preparations Will Be Made
For Final Sale of Stock
On Saturday.

After 50 years of business in the location on E. Main-st. J. R. Wilson's Home Equipment store will be closed Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. He has leased his store room, and will give possession as soon as possible to the Dollar Dan Store. His entire stock and all fixtures will be sold at once at a closing out sale which will begin Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Until that time, the store will be closed in preparation for the sale. There will be no celebration to mark the 50th anniversary of this business, which Mr. Wilson established in 1879. In that half century the store has handled only high class merchandise.

On Saturday morning a carnival of bargains will be revealed to the people of Circleville. Nothing will be left undone to move stock quickly. The lines specialized on will be cooking utensils, stoves and general lines of home equipment. One of the best qualities and cleanest stocks ever offered at sacrifice prices will be sold at the sale beginning Saturday morning.

Mr. Wilson's future plan will be to retain the rear of the store and continue with only plumbing, pipe fitting, stove repairs, pumps and used stoves. Entrance to his shop will be from the alley in the rear.

KINGSTON

O. E. S. CELEBRATION

The tenth anniversary of Kingston Chapter No. 411, O. E. S., was celebrated at the regular meeting of the chapter held last Friday evening, Feb. 15. An appetizing six o'clock dinner was served to about 65 members and guests at small tables where a color scheme of red and white was carried out with candles and flowers and a large white cake adorned with ten candles occupied a conspicuous place. The brick ice cream with a red "10" and delicious white cake concluded this part of the evening's enjoyment. The initiatory ceremony followed the regular opening of the chapter at which time Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Famuliner were initiated into the order. The following officers exemplified the work in a very pleasing manner: Worthy Matron, Mrs. Florence Mowery; Worthy Patron, Rev. Floyd S. Webb; Associate Matron, Mrs. Wyland Gardner; Secretary, Mrs. Marietta Rittenour; Treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Orr; conductress, Mrs. Bernice Borders; Associate Conductress, Mrs. Mary Metcalf; Chaplain, Mrs. Ruby Wood; Marshal, Mrs. Myrtle Creachbaum; Organist, Mrs. Oda Anderson; Ada, Mrs. Hazel Hohenstein; Ruth, Mrs. Lillian Dreisbach; Esther, Miss Mary Ford; Martha, Miss Margaret Thomas; Electa, Mrs. Flora Shoemaker; Warden, Mrs. Florence Jones; Sentinel, Nelson Leasure. At the close of initiation a splendid musical program was put on by Mrs. Maude Hatfield and Mrs. Oda Anderson, who as the Happy Harmony Girls entertained all with their broad-casting from station OES operating on a frequency of 411 kilocycles. The following committee was in charge of the dinner. Mrs. Marietta Ridenour; Mrs. Nellie Black; Mrs. Lillian Dreisbach; Mrs. Bernice Borders; Mrs. Ruby Wood; Mrs. Mary Freshour; Mrs. Margaret Lightner and Miss Margaret Thomas.

The persons attending the grand opera at the Columbus auditorium in Columbus Monday evening to hear "Faust" were: Mrs. George L. Borders, Miss Ora Rittenour, Mrs. Dennis H. Dreisbach, Mrs. A. Dane Ellis and Mrs. J. P. Gardner.

Workers Carve Road in Arkansas Marble

Western Grove, Ark.—North Arkansas in Newton and Boone counties is so lavishly with its resources that workmen on the highway shoot through ledges of fine marble and toss it aside like flint or shale. There is an illustration between this place and Valley Springs on Federal Highway No. 65 which is now under construction. For about 200 yards the grade runs across the top of a bed of light gray marble. This was shot out to a depth of several feet and several hundred tons of this material is piled up along the dump. Any one of the larger pieces would cost $150 worked into a monument.

Dogs and Goats Steal Rides on Airplanes

Washington.—Air corps records here show that not only have live animals flown long distances in planes, but that they have even made parachute jumps. "Bing," dog mascot of the air service mechanics school at Kelly field, San Antonio, once made a parachute jump from a height of a thousand feet. He had a special harness fitted on him. A divergent pulled the rip cord just as the dog dropped into space. The parachute opened beautifully, and "Bing" floated gracefully to earth, alighting in the arms of the lieutenant who had raised him from a pup. He set up a joyous and excited barking, as though to tell the world about the feat he had just accomplished.

The twenty-second photographic section of the air corps adds to the aviators' bed-time stories with an account of three kittens which made several extended journeys before they were found in the fuselage of the plane. The mother cat had evidently considered it a good, safe home for the kittens.

Records also show that dogs, frogs, goats, mice and snakes have made aerial journeys in the cockpits of planes, sometimes to the great annoyance of pilots who have discovered the live freight after the plane has taken off.

At France field, Panama, a mother possum and her brood of little ones were discovered in the fuselage. They were adopted by the hangar crew and now it is no uncommon sight to see a crowman going about his work with a small possum clinging grimly to his shoulder.

Air Mail Is Proved Safe for Valuables

Washington.—Post Office department records show the air mail is comparatively as safe a medium for shipping valuable papers as other means of transportation. "The loss of 1,097 sacks of mail in the sinking of the Vestris alone constituted a greater loss than the air mail has experienced during the ten years of its existence," W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general, says in reviewing the records.

"Fire in a railroad car just outside New York recently destroyed more mail than has been lost during the entire operations of the air mail."

Records show that for the ten years of air mail's operation, 1,324,365 pounds of mail were carried with a loss of only 1,235 pounds. The percentage of air mail lost in transit is .00031. The Post Office department requires mail compartments of all planes to be lined with sheet metal to serve as a protection from such slight fires as might originate from defective wiring or similar local causes.

Girl Stowaways Are a Problem to Ship Lines

Cape May, N. J.—The hazardous and adventuresome experience of stowing away aboard a ship is now being sought by the flapper as a new thrill, according to E. W. Arculus, veteran steward and former instructor of stewards for the United States shipping board. Arculus, who recently visited old cronies in the seafaring colony of the south Jersey coast, declared the romance of the sea is as keenly sought by young women as by members of the opposite sex—who have always considered the sea as a field of their own.

The steward said the number of young women who get a "kick" out of "hopping" aboard a trans-atlantic vessel and stealing a ride to Europe is getting to be a serious factor with the large companies. Arculus revealed drastic measures are being taken to watch the gang-planks at embarkation for fair stowaways. One company, he said, is considering a rule to have friends and relatives to say farewell from the dock to prevent "free passengers" from boarding.

PELLAGRA IS CURABLE DR. COPELAND HOLDS

Properly Balanced Diet Will Overcome Effects of Skin Plague, Health Authority Declares, Praising Work of Dr. Goldberger.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

IN Washington a few weeks ago, one of the great figures in medicine died. Dr. Joseph Goldberger did much to benefit the human race. He studied yellow fever, typhus, measles and dengue fever. But his monumental work was in connection with pellagra.

As a result of this great doctor's work, cause and cure of pellagra were found. But more than this, his research shed new light on the science of human diet. The knowledge of many things in medicine was widened by this man's efforts.

What Dr. Goldberger did, was to remove pellagra from the long list of mysterious things. He has left us, but his efforts for humanity will survive forever.

The name given the disease we have mentioned is from two words—"pellis," meaning the "skin," and "agra," meaning "catching." These were united into the odd name, "pellagra."

It is due to disturbed nutrition. The most conspicuous symptom is the puffy swelling of the skin. It begins on the back of the hands, looking not unlike severe sunburn. Later, the feet, neck and forehead may be involved.

There may be blisters over the inflamed surfaces. The skin grows darker in color and much thickened for a time. Then it begins to shrivel and peel.

Other early symptoms are disturbances of digestion. Ulcers of the mouth, sickness at the stomach and vomiting are observed. Painful diarrhoea is another sign.

The third center of attack is the nervous system. At first there may be headache and dizziness. Weakness, inability to think clearly, terrible depression of spirits and finally a form of insanity, this is the course of the disease.

You can see that it is a distressing and, until its cause was found, a pretty hopeless ailment. That is why Dr. Goldberger's work is so important.

It took this good man fourteen years of hard and dangerous work to solve this problem. It was important to find a cure because large sections of the South were afflicted. It had flourished there since the time of the war between the States. For a long time it was thought that the disease came from eating spoiled corn. Goldberger's research disproved this and determined that the symptoms are the result of a lack in the diet, the absence of what he called "P. P."—pellagra preventive. In short, the ailment is what we call a "deficiency disease."

Pellagra follows a diet of corn meal, polished rice, white flour, molasses, fat pork, turnip greens, sweet potatoes and coffee. The diet, you see, is largely sugar and starch and lacking in protein.

It is the conclusion of students of this disease, including Goldberger, that certain foods must be given.

DR. COPELAND

Milk, meat, eggs and vegetables are important.

We are thankful for Dr. Goldberger's gift to the race. We mourn his untimely death. His fifty-three years were crowded with good works. He earned his crown.

Topic for the Week "LENT AND MY HOME"

Memory Verse for Tuesday "Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged." (Colossians 3:21). (Read: Colossians 3:14 to 21.)

MEDITATION: Patience is the first virtue of a parent. How often we have seen children alienated from the love and piety of the home by the austere and exacting severity of parents! These misguided parents love their children but they expect too much and they demand it too soon. They forget how once they also thought as a child and spoke as a child.

WEIGH WHAT YOU DESIRE

If you over-weigh, the cause may not lie in over-eating or under-exercise. It may lie in a fault in nutrition which modern research has discovered. And which science now corrects.

The method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And many of the people you envy—with slender figures, new vivacity and health—will urge you to adopt this way.

The use of Marmola does not require abnormal exercise or diet. In every box you will find the formula, also the reasons for results. You will know just why your weight comes down and why every effect is helpful. Learn the facts, and do it now. Do so by asking your druggist today for a $1 box of Marmola.

Over the entrances to certain encampments of the American Marines is a sign which reads—"If you don't listen, you'll get killed." But this warning did not originate with the Marines, says the American Magazine, which explains: "It is really the life code of all wild things in nature. With them, to obey is to live, and to disobey is to die. Almost daily, wild creatures are called upon to make life-and-death choices, and they usually choose with celerity and dispatch. Reason and natural laws go hand in hand, and to violate a law of nature is always to defy reason."

STAG PARTY AT CLUB

There will be a stag party at the Pickaway Country Club on Thursday night, October 28 at 8 o'clock. Cards to this affair were quite late in being sent out.

DINNER PARTY FOR SIX GUESTS

Mrs. Gladys Peters was hostess to a dinner party Sunday night at 7 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Osborn on E. Main-st. The dinner table made a beautiful picture with a center piece of sweet peas, of pink and orchid, the colors which were emphasized in the entire scheme of decoration. Dainty place cards and nut cups were at the covers for six guests. Dinner was served by candle light. Those entertained were Miss Peggy Parks, Miss Elizabeth Tolbert, Miss Bernice Cook, Miss Ruth Stout and Miss Hazel Palm.

THIRTY GUESTS AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Thirty school friends were the guests of Marjorie Wolf Monday night at an evening party at seven o'clock which celebrated the 13th anniversary of her birthday. She is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wolfe of S. Court-st.

Green, for St. Patrick's day decorated the home for the occasion. After a series of games into which all the girls entered with heartiest enthusiasm, a buffet lunch was served by Mrs. Wolf, who was assisted by her daughter, Miss Martha Mary Wolfe and by Mrs. James Stout.

HEAR FAMOUS CHOIR AT DAYTON CHURCH

Mrs. I. N. Abernethy, Mrs. James Moffitt and Miss Abbe Mills Clarke motored to Dayton Sunday afternoon, to hear the famous choir at the Westminster Presbyterian church at W. First-st at Wilkinson and Perry. The following anthems, requested by friends, were presented by the Westminster Choir: Group 1, "Noel," and "List to the Lark," by Dickenson; "Hallelujah Chorus from the Messiah," by Handel. In group 2 were "Listen to the Lambs" by Dett, "Golden Slippers" by Johnson and "Going Home" by Dvorak. In the third group the choir sang "God is a Spirit" by David Hugh Jones, "Salvation is Created" by Tschepeloff, and "Inflammatus" (From Sabat Mater) by Rossini. In the last group Loren Hodapp was the main soloist, and was assisted by the Brass choir and the Westminster choir.

The Westminster choir became a part of the Dayton church in 1923. The ideal of the choir looks to trained leadership in the church and does not enter into the field of secular music. Perhaps 25 choirs in Dayton and the Miami valley owe their inspiration directly to the famous group of Dayton singers.

Under the direction of Dr. John Finley Williamson, the choir will leave Thursday, February 28 on its tour abroad which will last four months. They will have engagements in America, England, Hungary.

Miss Mildred Fisher of Richmond, and granddaughter of Mrs. Dorothy Fisher of Watt-st and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Metzger of Jackson-twp is a member of the choir.

IS HOSTESS TO BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Paul Helwegen entertained one extra table of guests Friday night at her home on N. Pickaway-st when she acted as hostess to the members of her bridge club. Miss Martha Mary Jacob made the prize winning score and received a most attractive gift.

WASHINGTON GRANGE JUVENILES ENTERTAIN

The juveniles of Washington Grange entertained the Subordinate Grange February 22, with the following program:

Song, "The Pan Parade," by all; Reading, "Life of Lincoln," Betty Brown; Recitation, "Lincoln Leads Them All," Edith Valentine; Recitation, "Lincoln," Jack Brown; Reading, "George Washington," Eleanor Westenhaver; Song, "How Betsy Made the Flag," Erma Valentine, Kathryn Kraft and Gerald Leist; Recitation "Washington's Birthday," Ethel May; Dialogue, "Like Washington," Forest Croman, David Click and Gail List; Recitation, "A Queer Valentine," Evelyn Kraft; Song, "Little George Washington," twelve children.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH OF A SON

Mr. and Mrs. G. Everett Farmer of Los Angeles announce the birth of a son, Jack Cooper Farmer, on February 18. Mrs. Farmer was formerly of Circleville and is a graduate of Everts high school with the class of 1917.

CHANTERS' PROGRAM AT MASONIC HALL

On Tuesday evening "The Chanters" will present a concert for public attendance at 7:30 o'clock in the lodge room of the Masonic temple at the Memorial Hall. The concert, to which all members of the Order and their families will be admitted free, is sponsored by the Circleville Eastern Star Chapter.

Now Era Boyan With Power Over Darkness

Among the most notable finds in the history of the world is the discovery of the first human being. The discovery of the first human being is the discovery of the first human being. The discovery of the first human being is the discovery of the first human being.

"This however for back as a preparation to put into the light of the world. Mr. Farmer said 'when man with the same in mind and feeling as we have worked and died, we find him facing the same problems as we do today, in seeking to regulate the light of day which entered his buildings and to supplement it at night as effectively as his knowledge would permit."

"But from 4,000 years before Christ to 1800 A. D., close to 6,000 years, that knowledge took him a further than the use of a wild dip in oil, or later, of the candle made from natural oil and tallow. But with the beginning of the last century a new era began in a era in which dawned the possibility of an unlimited light during the hours of natural darkness."

—CIRCLEVILLE FIRST—

SOON TO WED

Hugh Allen, Pathe featured player, first met Catharine Hoffman when she interviewed him for a newspaper. Now their engagement is announced.

ERLYNE CLAIR, WAMPAS "BABY STAR"

Ethlyne Clair, Auburn-haired star of the Pathe serial, "Queen of the North Woods," now in production, has been selected by the celebrated "Wampas" of Hollywood as one of the "Baby Stars" for 1929. Each year this association of studio publicity men picks thirteen of the newer and younger girl picture players who, in their opinion, show the most promise for future stardom.

The honor is eagerly sought for it not only brings the "Baby Stars" into immediate prominence but in many instances the wisdom of the selections has been attested by the subsequent careers of the girls.

Miss Clair has figured in two recent comedies and in several features during the past year or two. "Queen of the North Woods" gives her a role as leading woman for the first time.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Editor, The Circleville Herald: We are going to give you some of the reasons why we have signed a petition against the north end site for a hospital.

Last fall on election day, our good doctors hired ladies to go to the polls and tell the voters that we had $30,000 left from the Berger estate and a beautiful piece of ground given by Mr. Charles Niles, so if we were ever to have a hospital now was the time to vote for one. So we thought if the city put $30,000 to this fund, it would build a hospital large enough for Circleville, and we all voted for a hospital, thinking it was to be built on the Niles lot. Soon after election was over some thought the Niles lot was not the place, not enough ground then Council decided to vote for the north end one and against what had been given free. Put it out in a corn field and pay $1,000 an acre for four acres, which would mean $4,000 for lot and then issue bonds to the amount of $75,000 (seventy-five thousand dollars) to build in a place where there is no sewer, side walks or any other improvements.

Is it any wonder a taxpayer is willing to sign a petition against this hospital being built anywhere else except on the Niles lot, as we all voted with that thought in mind. Taxpayer.

You Can't Dye with Promix

You can't dye a dress no matter how careful you may be—without real color. That's the idea behind Diamond Dyes. They are made to give you real service. They contain from three to five times more dye than other dyes on the market.

Next time you want to dye, try Diamond Dyes. See how easy it is to use them. Then compare results. Note the change of that faded look of streaking, or spotting. See how soft, bright, new-looking the colors are. Then observe how they lose their brilliance through wear and washing. If you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes, your dealer will refund your money.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye, for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

Sleeping Soundly
What is meant by sleeping soundly? Studies made by the Woman's Home Companion show that a healthy college student moves during his sleeping hours on an average of once every ten minutes. To awaken and turn over for a new position is entirely normal and conducive to the best rest.

You Can Dye a Dress with Promises

You can't dye a dress—no matter how careful you may be—without real color. That's the idea behind Diamond Dyes. They are made to give you real service. They contain from three to five times more aniline than other dyes on the market.

Next time you want to dye, try Diamond Dyes. See how easy it is to use them. Then compare results. Note the absence of that re-dyed look of streaking, or spotting. See how soft, bright, new-looking the colors are. Then observe how they keep their brilliance through wear and washing. If you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes, your dealer will refund your money.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or tint silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

LOWED BY SPRING
There's no use talking—so many interesting events take place during March that we are as nervous as a witch. More things than you could shake a stick at (assuming, of course, that you had a stick), and we just don't know how to get them all in these two or three short paragraphs.

The problem is to offend no one and at the same time please everybody. For example, the Herbert Hoover boosters want us to give plenty of space to the Presidential Inauguration; the evolutionists have warned us that March always does an animal act—changing from lion to lamb; the weather prophets expect us to comment on Winter's official exodus on the 21st; and now that we look around the store, we think it wouldn't be exactly ill-timed to mention the new Spring Furniture, now on display.

Which, on second thought, settled the problem. And very satisfactorily, indeed, for our complete line of Spring Furniture is sure to please everybody. Here you will find everything for the home, from attic to cellar. And last but not least, if you've never traded here before—come in; you will find our prices and terms always please everybody, too.

C. W. Hays, of Williamsport, tells us we are late in announcing our spring items, because he is enjoying summer weather right now. To those who think Mr. Hays guilty of a slight exaggeration, we hasten to say that he purchased an Estate Heatrola this winter, and is getting a house full of real June warmth now—24 hours per day.

Visitors at the new country home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Peck, below Westfall, near Teck Has-kim's town of Yellowbud, will be amazed at the modern city conveniences that they have. They have electricity by pushing a button; hot or cold running water by turning a faucet; and a fire in their kitchen range by striking a match. No, they do not have natural gas, but they do have one of our Alcazar Gasoline Pressure ranges, which is the next best thing to gas. It lights like gas, but burns with much greater heat. Yes, country homes are just as modern as city home today.

Speaking of the coming of Spring reminds us that another event is approaching. It's the time of the year when we husbands like to stay away from home—it's when the good wife gets the House-Cleaning Bee in her bonnet. Suppose that they would make US do the cleaning? We'd be hunting all over town for labor-saving devices and cleaning powders. So why not provide the women with these same necessary articles and, perhaps, they'll do the job for us.

Which reminds us that we have furniture polish made by folks that know how to make a polish that will not injure the best of finishes. For cleaning rugs, carpets, and wood-work, our MARVEL CLEANER is a marvel. Nothing in it to injure the finest of fabrics or finishes, but it surely gets the dirt. A sixty-five cent package makes a gallon and a half of the best washing solution we have ever tried.

Like to use paints and lacquers and finish furniture to your own taste? For those that like to do this kind of work, we have some unfinished drop-leaf tables and chairs that can be made into really beautiful breakfast sets. Of course, we have many sets that are already to be used. Two of them are White Elephants, and priced so low that they are real buys.

Even the way of the transgressor has its traffic congestion. We were speaking, a little while ago, about the modern home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward H. Peck. In mentioning the conveniences that they have, we neglected to say that their kitchen floor is there for the rest of their lives (that is, if they don't live too long). It is Armstrong's Embossed Linoleum and we cemented it down. It is sealed with that new Accolac process of Armstrong's and will require but little effort to keep it looking nice.

A new broom may sweep clean but Bee-Vac Vacuum Cleaner will clean cleaner. Requires no oiling. Absolutely trouble-proof as many satisfied users will testify, and guaranteed for 2 years. Models for every size home and our unusual terms make it easy for you to own one. Just phone 334 for a demonstration. Price? Only $39.75.

"A little bird told me what kind of a lawyer your father was."
"What did the little bird say?"
"Cheep, cheep."
"Well, a duck told me what kind of a doctor your old man was."

We're starting to clean house at our store. In stirring around, we have discovered a number of pieces, in all departments, that have been here so long that they are tired of looking at them. So, we're calling them WHITE ELEPHANTS and they are for sale at prices that are from one-third to one-half below regular prices. Better drop in, folks, and see what you can use.
